Iowa Lutheran Hospital

This is how we began...

Iowa Lutheran Hospital was established in 1914 by Swedish-American Lutherans. The hospital's services soon expanded beyond the walls of its original building and denominational origins. The hospital's history has been filled with firsts. Iowa Lutheran was home to America's first polio clinic (1942), Des Moines' first kidney dialysis center (1971) and Iowa's first multiple sclerosis center (1988). In the late 1980's, Iowa Lutheran pioneered "Birth Day Suites," allowing mothers to labor and deliver in the same comfortable room.

In 1980, Louise Coskery, the sole heir to the Coskery Family Trust died. According to her parent's wishes, 50 percent of the estate, which included farmland and other assets, was given to Iowa Lutheran Hospital. This wonderful gift totaled $2.8 million. This generous act provided substantial endowment toward the development of the Iowa Lutheran Hospital Foundation.

In 1993, Iowa Lutheran Hospital and Iowa Methodist Medical Center (including Blank Children's Hospital) merged to form Iowa Health System, the largest medical service provider in Iowa.

Today, Iowa Lutheran Hospital is still recognized for its family environment and its first-class, compassionate nursing care.

This is who we are...

Iowa Lutheran Hospital has a reputation for serving patients in Des Moines and central Iowa by “living” our CORE values: Compassion, Openness, Respect and Excellence.

Iowa Lutheran has 230 staffed beds and specializes in medical/surgical patients, maternity and women’s services, emergency services, transitional care, and a variety of outpatient services.

The Family Practice Residency Program has recently celebrated 28 years of service to the hospital. This highly-regarded program has trained hundreds of family practice physicians who have gone on to practice in towns all over Iowa and the Midwest. Iowa Lutheran’s unique environment gives these residents a wide variety of medical experiences through a community-based program.

Iowa Lutheran is also home to Iowa’s largest private hospital-based mental health facility. Combining advanced medical care with psychiatric diagnostic and treatment capabilities, it addresses mental illness and emotional or behavioral problems alike. Lutheran’s capabilities include child, adolescent and adult psychiatry along with a dual psychiatric and chemical dependency unit for adolescents.

Powell Chemical Dependency Center at Iowa Lutheran has been a leader in Iowa and across the nation in developing treatment programs for chemically affected people. The center has treated more than 35,000 individuals in 30 years of service.
